

22 SHIPS

22 Ships recently opened its doors on Wan Chai's Ship Street. The neighbourhood tapas bar is backed by Michelin-starred chef Jason Atherton and Yenn Wong of 208 Duecento Otto and JIA Boutique Hotels. A protégé of Gordon Ramsay and Ferran Adrià, Jason Atherton is already celebrating the success of his restaurants Esquina and Pollen in Singapore, and Table No. 1 in Shanghai. 22 Ships is his first Hong Kong venture and it is a no reservation, no service charge tapas bar that encourages diners to indulge in modern Spanish tapas in a casual setting. Highlights include scallop ceviche with yuzu dressing, soy, cucumber and apple; Manchego cheese and Iberico ham toasties; and baked smoked bone marrow with onion jam, sourdough and Gentleman's relish butter. Our personal favourite? The char grilled Iberico pork with foie gras mini burgers, served with avocado and pickled cucumber.
